

Religious Emblems

- Religious Emblems are offered by Religious Institutions and are implemented through the Boy & Girl Scouts & Camp Fire programs.
- Requirements are established by each Religious Institution.
- www.praypub.org offers a emblems program for any youth and does not require an affiliation with any organization.

How to get started

- Youth members obtain the specific requirements booklet for their religion
- Parents should review program guidelines
- Parents should talk with their religious leader and show them the booklet BEFORE beginning the program
- www.praypub.org offers information and links for any Religious Emblem.

Cub Scouts, Daisies & Brownies

- Emblem requirements are not completed in a group environment.
- Provides parents the opportunity to share their faith one on one with their child.
- Parents work with their child following specific requirements booklet published by each religious denomination.
- Parents work with their child and consult with their religious leader in the absence of requirement booklets published by their church.
